The 57th Annual Conference will focus on equipping leaders and scholars to address sociological questions and better serve their communities. The mission of the Association of Black Sociologists is to build a tradition of scholarship and service, informed by the interests of historically disenfranchised groups in general and Black/African American people in particular. Your sponsorship of the 2027 annual conference will help us transform leadership and scholarship so that it has lasting impact. Thank you for your support!
